Long-Time Executive Passes Away

William D. Richardson, father-in-law of Exchange Credit Program Senior Vice President Jami Richardson, passed away Feb. 26.

Richardson, father of retired Logistics Vice President Steve Richardson, served as deputy comptroller until his 1983 retirement from the Exchange.

William Richardson's funeral was held March 1 at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Duncanville, Texas. Burial was in Duncanville's Little Bethel Memorial Park.

Jami served in the very same role as her father-in-law as vice president of Finance and Accounting until she was promoted to senior vice president.

William Richardson was discharged from the Army Air Corps in 1947 as a corporal. After going back to school and landing a job at a CPA firm, he then became an accountant at the Fort Hood Exchange in Texas. At the Exchange, Richardson met his wife-to-be, Myrtle, and they eventually became parents of Steve.

Steve Richardson followed in his parents' footsteps and made a career at the Exchange, where he met Jami. He retired in December 2011 after 31 years with the Exchange.
